- They are trained to provide Basic Life Support and the use of defibrillators.
- They offer support and comfort to the patient and their family.

The skills you need

- Community First Responders come from all different walks of life and volunteer for many different reasons. No previous medical experience or training is necessary although you will need a caring attitude and be able to cope with potentially distressing situations.

- Hold a valid, full UK Driving Licence with no more than six penalty points.
- Have access to a vehicle which can be used for responding purposes
